

May the God who gives endurance and encouragement give you a spirit of unity among yourselves as you follow Christ Jesus, so that with one heart and mouth you may glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 15:5-6

Give attention where attention is due...

Many of you may have seen the Thanksgiving edition of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, where my two boys and I were on the front page. A big picture of the three of us riding our unicycles in the park was coupled by a story about our unique skill. The article promoting the Parade of Lights highlighted our family and for several days, my conversation with people centered around the newspaper article.

On the night of the parade, several people I didn't even know came up to ask me if I was the one from the paper. I answered them affirmatively and we would talk briefly. Had that article never been printed, we would have been just another participant in the parade without much notice.

The Christmas season is upon us once again and our attention is pulled in many directions. Unfortunately, the real purpose of this special holiday is often overshadowed by the commercialism and parties that accompany it and the name of Jesus receives very little attention.

We can be pretty sure that the newspapers won't put Him on the front page this Christmas season, but that doesn't mean our conversations and activities can't include Him. Our lives ought to exhibit Christ daily, so much in fact that people are inclined to ask us about Him. But if they don't ask, let's keep Him in the center of our attention and be ready to tell others about the One whom we celebrate at Christmas!

*Suddenly a great company of the heavenly host appeared with the angel, praising God and saying,
"Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace to men on whom His favor rests."*
